The woman's rights convention at St. Louis is a success. It has been well patronized. Mrs. Livermore, of Chicago, who turned to the wall and wept because it was a girl, is the heavy speaker, and MissAnthony, who has often turned to the wall and wept because it was neither boy nor girl, appears each evening in the character of "Why don't the men propose?" Many distingished crowing hens are present.

Among the most extensive flour merchants, not only in Cairo, but in the Northwest, are Messrs. Halliday Bros. During the past eight years they have made the sale of flour a prominent feature of their business, supplying the towns and villages within two hundred miles of Caire, on terms with which St. Louis, Evansville and Louisville firms have been unable to compete. At this time they are more extensively in the business than ever, selling more flour, perhaps, than any single firm in the Mississippi valley.

A Burglarious Proceeding. On the night of the 5th instant, a negro man, believed to be George Stevenson, entered the dwelling house of Mr. Mc-Cormick on Commercial avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets, through a rear door, and abstracted therefrom several pillows, sheets and blankets, worth in the aggregate from twenty to thirty dollars. Joe Arnold being apprized of the burglary, instituted inquiries, and soon found the bedding where the black scamp had sold them at about one fourth their value. Of course they were restored to the owner, leaving the purchaser short the amount he had paid to the rascally purloiner.

Stolen Tobacco Recovered. About two weeks ago, we mentioned the loss of a caddy of tobacco from the Cairo wharfboat. On Wednesday, Joe Arnold found it in the possession of Mr-Patrick Mockler, who had bought it from a negro, paying him one dollar therefor. The negro told Mr. M. that he had been working on the steamer White, and that the Captain, being short of funds, paid him off in tobacco. The caddy was one of a lot consigned to Mr. H. Meyer, and was worth about sixteen dollars. The name had been hacked out, but as the tobacco was of a peculiar brand, it was easily indentified as the property of Mr.

William Martin and Jacob Martin. We are informed that the name of William Martin, the democratic candidate for County Treasurer, is, in some quarters, confounded with that of Jacob Martin, late City Comptroller.

Mr. William Martin, although a resident for many years of the city, has held company, Col. Mitchell was chosen as no municipal office, except that of select his successor. Col. Taylor was made councilman, which he now holds. He has never acted as assessor deputy assessor. He has, in truth, had no part in the management of city affairs, past or present, except in the capacity of select councilman,

He has always, under all circum stances, shown himself a straight for shall not be surprised if the C. &, St. L. ward, unflinching democrat, voting the regular ticket every time, never faltering in his fealty to the party, even in the dark days that tried men's political nerve to the utmost. Recognizing this fidelity, and believing him competent to satisfactorily discharge the duties of the office, the democracy selected him as their candidate for County Treasurer. Jacob Martin is not, and never was, a candinate for the office of County Treasurer, or any other county office.

SHOT THROUGH THE HEAD.

A TERRIBLE AFFAIR NEAR THERES. ----

Something over a month ago lawyer Butler was called to Thebes, in this thrift and wealth as a people. county, to defend a couple of negro men against a criminal charge, preferred against them by a neighboring farmer by the name of Hogan. It seems that negroes had cultivated a patch of corn that was a favorite resort of an unruly horse, the property of Hogan. The negroes drove the animal from their corn time and again, but as often as it wanted a "good square meal" it returned. Fi. nally the dusky agriculturalists lost all patience. For the dozenth time they saw the pestiferous visitor making sad havoe in their growing grain, concluded they would'nt and stand it any longer. So sallying forth, one of them with a shot gun and the other with a butcher knife, they dispatched the corn-devouring animal in short order, one of them putting a heavy charge of shot in its careass and the other cutting its throat. Of course Hogan sued, and the negroes securing Butler to defend them, of course they were acquitted. Did the matter rest here? Not quite. A few days ago a resident of that locality visited a neighboring patch of woods, where, among other things, he saw the dead body of one of the negroes. A mere glance showed that the head had been perforated by a rifle ball. The other negro, warned by the fate of his partner, fled the country, leaving bousehold effects, crop, and everything else to take care of themselves. Where he has flown no one knows. Considerable excitement prevails in the neighborhood, but as yet no arrests have been made.

CAIRO AND ST. LOUIS RAILROAD.

The of board directors of the Cairo and St. Louis railroad company met in Murphysboro, yesterday, in pursuance of building arrangements for Cairo and St. Louis railroad, entered into between the executive committee of the board and Col. Mitchel. In conformity with one of the conditions of the arrangements, Col. Mitchell was elected as one of the directors, and Col. Taylor resigning his office as president of the chairman of the executive committee.

Thus is provision made for the construction of the Cairo and St. Louis railroad. Col. Mitchell has the needful means and appliances to prosecute the work with great vigor, and as he proposes an immediate commencement, we is the first road, among the number con' templated and under way, finished into the city.

A Nut for St. Louis to Crack.

Cairo, if not the most extensive, is certainly the best, flour market in the country. There are several reasons why this is and should be so, which we do not, now, care to enlarge upon. We will satisfy ourselves by pointing to evidences of the fact, chief, among which, is the presence in our market of St. Louis buyers. Yesterday there were several flour it to the patronage of the respectable buyers here from St. Louis, who bought largely, declaring by both word and deed that it is to their interest to buy here.

Most of the flour sold in the Cairo market is manufactured from the wheat expensive transportation. The flour sold in St. Louis, or the bulk of it, is brought in by railroad, and subjected to railroad freights. The difference thus created in favor of Cairo, is small it is true; but is enough to have a controlling | Remedy.

The transactions here yesterday were very heavy, and, but for an inadequate supply of low grades, which are in most active demand, would have been much heavier. For details we refer the reader to our price current, wherein the most prominent sales are carefully noted. In the evening there were orders on hand for at least one thousand barrels that could not, on the moment, be supplied, but which will be in store to-day.

Manufacturing Interests.

The furniture manufactured at the Southwestern Factory in this city, is made in an honest and substantial manner, and should find ready market at a good price. At present only common bedsteads, breakfast, dinner, kitchen and beer tables, one and two drawer stands and washstands, safes, etc., are manufactured there; but should the experiment prove a success, finer furniture will be made, and, probably a chair factory added.

Sash and blinds are also made and sold at the Southwestern Factory, at Chicago prices, a reasonable freight added. The machinery of the establishment is new and complete, and of the most generally approved kind. It only $ 1.67 m remains for the people of the country to learn to patronize home industry, in every instance where they may do so without a pecuniary sacrifice, to keep it actively and profitably employed.

To give Cairo that prominence her friends have predicted for her, a manufacturing interest must be fostered and built up. It will impart an inherent life that nothing else can. Railroads will prove a great help; but not until the stocks of factories and mills rise here and there and everywhere throughout our city will we enjoy that prosperity we are entitled to by virtue of our remarkable geographical and commercial position. Encourage Joseph McKenzie, then, who, in the erection of the Southwestern factory, has taken a step in the direction that must be followed if we would attain eminence as a city and
